Information Sheet Mount Agung eruption / Airport closure

Have you informed your family that you are safe? If you haven’t, please make sure to do so as you read this. Follow the instructions of the Indonesian authorities and consult the FDFA’s travel advice for Indonesia (GE/FR/IT): www.eda.admin.ch/reisehinweise. Contact your travel agency, airline or your insurance company and consult reliable Indonesian media sources i.e. Antara news, Jakarta Post or Jakarta Globe.

Are you in need of extra cash?
You can withdraw money from Indonesian ATMs with most European bank or credit cards; or have money transferred to you through i.e. Western Union. The locations are here: http://locations.westernunion.com

You lost your travel document?
After obtaining a police report, contact your Embassy/Consulate. Locations of police stations can be found here: http://www.balitourismboard.org/police-stations.html

Were your flight cancelled and you wish to leave the island asap?
It is recommended to contact your travel agency, airline or your insurance company and wait in your accommodation until they provide you with transportation options. Should you decide to leave Bali by your own means, here are some public transportation options; but especially with children or elderly be aware that you might face communication problems, logistic difficulties and security issues, as the infrastructure differs from Bali and the use of English is not common outside touristic destinations.
